

Solution to Disarmament Is Difficult

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy are reported to be having difficulty in working out a single Western disarmament plan for negotiation with the Soviet Union.

Some Allied diplomats said that the Western powers may produce instead a "coordinated position" on disarmament issues. This could mean that each country would go into the 10-nation conference at Geneva March 15 with its own set of proposals for dealing with disarmament problems.

Efforts under way here for the past four weeks to develop a joint plan are reportedly disappointing to some of the Allies.

Diplomats said privately that the United States had been slow to develop its own policy, chiefly due to differences between the State and Defense departments over the nature and timing of controls.

When U.S. proposals finally were presented to the meeting about a week ago, some of the Allies found them lacking in boldness and imagination.

The second stage of Western disarmament proposals was completed Friday by the men who will do the actual negotiating with delegations from five Soviet bloc countries at the Geneva conference. Three of these top men, Jules Moch of France, David Ormsby Gore of Britain and Gaetano Martino of Italy left Friday night for their home capitals.

The top five including Frederick M. Eaton of the United States and Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, expect to meet again, probably in Paris, in early March.

The talks here have been secret and the nature of the differences—apart from Allied disagreement with an apparent lack of U.S. leadership—has not been disclosed.

However, the impression among reasonably well-informed diplomats is that France is sticking to its line of wanting to concentrate on control of delivery systems for nuclear weapons and that the British generally favor a harder and more hopeful approach than some of the other allies.

So far the discussions appear to have been guided chiefly by a well-developed British plan.

Governor Suspicious From First

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orin E. Faubus said today the bombing of a Negro student's home had "looked peculiar" to him from the beginning.

He told newsmen he had surmised the blast at the home of Carlotta Walls, 16-year-old student at integrated Central High School, was the work of Negroes.

Asked how he arrived at this, Faubus replied:

"Well, let's just analyze it—how could it benefit the segregationists? Cause? What profit would it have been to them? Of course, some one could have been stupid enough to do it."

Earlier, Faubus had hinted that the Feb. 9 bombing was the work of pro-integrationists.

Two Negro men were charged today in the dynamiting which caused minor damage to the Walls home. No one was hurt in the explosion. Maceo Antonio Binns Jr., 31, and Herbert Odell Monts, 17, pleaded innocent to the charges.

Faubus declined to dwell on the arrests.

"Let's wait and see the results," he suggested.

On another subject, Faubus said a proposal for a 40 million dollar bond issue to be used for improvements at state-supported colleges was not new.

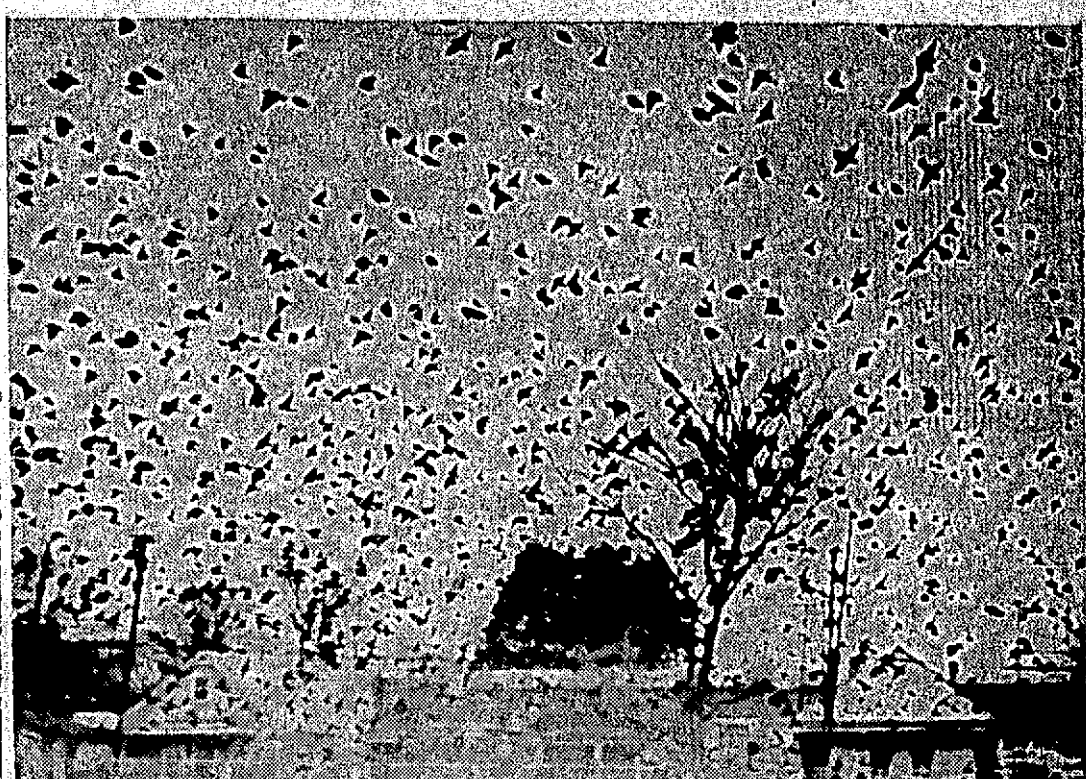

He said it came up in the 1959 Legislature "but it didn't have enough steam or consideration."

The governor suggested that colleges will have to establish "a genuine need, not just desire" for the proposal wins serious consideration in the 1961 Legislature.

Asked if he would favor a tax boost in connection with the proposal, Faubus said that at the moment he is not in favor of any taxes for this purpose.

Arkansas—Occasional rain today. Cold tomorrow.

BYE-BYE BLACKBIRDS—Hundreds of thousands of blackbirds have taken over Elmwood Cemetery in Memphis, Tenn., but crafty city officials have planned a way to get rid of them. They intend trapping a few birds, recording the distressed cries of the captives, and then playing them back over a loud-speaking system. They think it will frighten the birds away.

Nazarenes to Hear Missionary

Special guest of the Hope Nazarene Church Sunday at 11 a. m. will be the Rev. William Porter, a missionary to Puerto Rico who is now on furlough in the U. S.

His talks will tell all about Puerto Rico and the work being carried out there and will be illustrated by color slides. The Rev. Mr. Porter has been stationed at San Juan for the past five years directing a Bible institute and pastoring a church. The public is invited.

Sees Way to Protect Vote Rights

MEMPHIS (AP) — Two Negro leaders tonight predicted the use of a little known clause of a constitutional amendment in an effort to insure deep South voting rights for Negroes.

Clause 2 of the 14th amendment was cited by Mrs. Ruby Hurley of Atlanta, Southeast Regional Secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and M. W. Evers, Field Secretary for Mississippi.

"The clause says that when the right to vote is denied in any state except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens 21 years of age in such state."

Evers, of Jackson, Miss., said application of the clause in Mississippi could cut the state's representation in the lower house of congress virtually in half.

"Mississippi has a population of 4 per cent Negro," he said, "Only 20,000 to 30,000 Negroes of a potential 495,000 Negro voters are registered. Half of these are in five large cities and some of them are pressured into dropping their registration."

Evers and Mrs. Hurley are among about 200 NAACP officials attending the organizations south east regional conference, which ends Sunday.

Guild Has Okay For a Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The directors of the Screen Actors Guild has approval of the Guild membership for a strike against the movie industry.

More than 83 per cent of 7,245 votes were for strike authorization, the guild announced Thursday. But the guild says the strike vote does not necessarily mean a strike. The guild is seeking payment for actors if post-1948 major studio movies are sold on television.

The big studios claim the actors were paid once for their work, and that's enough. The guild notes that independent producers have agreed to pay actors residual fees on post-1948 films.

Prisoner Pays Fine of Another

BOSTON (AP)—Edward Krom, 48, paid the fine of another prisoner in Suffolk County jail and walked out a free man. Police are trying to find him now.

They said Krom identified himself as Philip Collins Thursday, answered a set of identifying questions and was released after paying a $10 fine. Krom had been held for attempted larceny by check. Collins was in for failure to pay the fine.

Judge Calls a Recess in Finch Trial

By DIAL TORGERSO

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Finch murder trial jury has been suddenly locked up for four days because, the judge says, "the air is tense."

A defense source suggested that one reason may have been today's scheduled execution of Caryl Chessman. The convict-author was given a 60-day reprieve shortly after midnight.

After prosecution and defense ended their cases Thursday in the long trial of Dr. Bernard Finch and his pretty paramour, charged with murdering his wife, Superior Judge Walter R. Evans made the announcement.

"You are all aware," he told the jury, "of the widespread publicity this case has received, and if I may use the term 'some pressure' in and around us, you can just tell the air is tense."

The judge said "for your own benefit, your own protection, the court is going to order at this time that the sheriff take you into custody and take care of you from here on."

Sheriff's cars and family members brought jurors overnight bags. The 12 jurors and 3 alternates were lodged in eight rooms on the 10th floor of a hotel—without radios, newspapers or television. Guards patrolled the halls.

"I think a good part of this is the Chessman thing," a member of the Finch defense suggested anonymously, without elaboration, after the judge ordered the jury locked up.

The handsome, wealthy Dr. Finch, 42, and shapely Carol Treguff, 23, are charged with murdering his wife last July 18 outside the Finch estate in suburban West Covina. The surgeon testified socialite Barbara Jean Finch, 36, was shot accidentally as they struggled over a pistol.

There was no trial session today because of a legal huddle in the judge's chambers. There will be no court Monday because of Washington's birthday. Final arguments are expected to start Tuesday. They may last most of the week.

Gives Up Idea of Insurance

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Backers of a charity comedy revue gave up on the idea of buying a million-dollar insurance policy to cover anyone in the audience who dies laughing.

Turned out it's not so simple. And it would cost $5,000 for two hours, under terms set forth by Lloyd's of London, a famed firm which specializes in off-beat insurance policies.

"They'll just have to laugh at their own risk," William Loeb, chairman of the show sponsoring Easter Seal campaign, said Thursday.

First Round of Payola Probe Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — House payola probes, loaded with testimony that record distributors have poured big money into some disc jockeys' pockets, complete today the first round of their play-for-pay inquiry.

Before heading into a three-week recess, the Legislative Oversight subcommittee called Donald Dumont, president of a Boston distributing concern, for more information on payola practices there.

Dumont's firm has been cited in a Federal Trade Commission complaint and evidence before the subcommittee this week showed it had paid $8,300 to Boston disc jockeys since 1957.

Subcommittee Counsel Robert W. Lishman said the Commerce Committee, parent of the investigating group has a mass of legislation to consider during the recess.

The subcommittee itself has recommended federal licensing of networks and laws to ban payola—payments for free plugs on radio and television—and to guarantee the integrity of network programs.

Asks Senate Action on Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois urged today that the Senate pass a civil rights bill as quickly as possible rather than wait for the House to act.

This was in direct conflict with the reported strategy of the Democratic leadership to let the House pass a bill first and then to try to prevail on the Senate to accept the measure.

A bill embodying most but not all of the Eisenhower administration's civil rights program was cleared for House consideration last month by a 7-4 vote of the House Rules Committee Thursday.

The committee also specifically provided for consideration of an amendment to carry out the administration proposal for court-appointed referees to protect Negro voting rights.

However, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), the committee chairman, said the bill will not be called up in the House until March 10.

This means it probably will be March 16 or 17, and possibly several days later, before the House will be able to pass the bill and send it to the Senate.

In the Senate, the civil rights debate started Monday when an unrelated House-passed bill was called up and thrown open to civil rights amendments.

Dirksen has offered an amendment embracing all of the administration's civil rights proposals, touching off a continuing round of lengthy speeches by Southern foes.

Democratic leaders hope to get the Senate to accept a House-passed civil rights bill without change and send it directly to President Eisenhower. If the Senate and House pass different versions, the legislation might get snagged again in the House Rules Committee before it could go to a conference committee for adjustment of differences.

Dirksen suggested, however, that the process could be reversed—that the House could accept a Senate bill and send it on to the White House.

Secretaries Will Be Held Responsible

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The secretaries of the Army, Air Force and Navy will be held personally responsible for any "glaring inaccuracies" or lack of common sense and good taste in their training manuals.

That word came Friday from the boss of the Pentagon, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. He ordered a sweeping review of all service publications after several turned up that he said were "inappropriate to military training."

The Air Force so far has been the main producer of training manuals that have raised public outcry. The latest was one that charged that some Protestant clergymen were card-carrying Communists, that a large proportion of those who revised the King James version of the Bible were members of Red fronts.

That came on top of some other Air Force manuals: One was for enlisted men assigned to attend the personal wants of general officers. It told them how to greet guests at the door of the general's home, how to mix drinks, even how to wash the general's dog and polish his shoes.

The manuals were repudiated and withdrawn when they came to light.

Secretary of the Air Force Dudley C. Sharp disclosed that the manual referring to Communist infiltration of churches was written by Homer H. Hyde, a civilian employee at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas.

At Lackland, Hyde, 54, defiantly defended his pamphlet. "I felt the manual could not be completely effective as a tool for combatting communistic activities with which the NCO might come in contact either on or off duty unless he had all the evidence of such activity available to him that it was possible to provide," he said.

But Maj. Gen. Robert M. Sillman, commander of the base training center, said "Mr. Hyde deviated from the planned outline of this manual without authority. And it was completely inappropriate. His supervisors erred seriously in failing to pick this up."

Hyde is a member of a San Antonio Baptist church. "I am not ashamed of my religious beliefs," he said, but added that they were "not necessarily" reflected in the manual.

He said his sources for the pamphlet were Circuit Riders, Inc., of Cincinnati. Dr. Billy James Hargis, a radio evangelist from Tulsa, Okla., an editorial in the San Antonio Light and a government bulletin he identified as "Communism and Religion."

Allies Reject Red Military Proposals

BOON, Germany (AP) — The Western Allies today rejected new Soviet passes for Western military missions in East Germany. Allied officials contended a change in the wording of the old passes was a new Soviet move to win a measure of recognition for the Red East German regime.

The Americans, British and French sent identical letters to Marshal S. Zhukharov, commander of the Red Army in East Germany, telling him the new passes are unacceptable "in their present form."

The text of the letter was not made public.

The new passes, intended for use by Western military men traveling to and from the Allied liaison post in Potsdam, East Germany, authorize travel in "the German democratic Republic" instead of "the Soviet-occupied zone of Germany," the wording on the previous passes.

The Western Allies do not recognize the East German government, contending it is not representative of the East German people.

In another development, the Soviet Embassy in Bonn called a news conference today and repeated the threat to turn over control of western access to Berlin to the East German satellite Red regime.

The threat was contained in a memorandum handed by Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov last Jan. 13 to Erich Ollenburger, chairman of the opposition Socialist party.

The embassy made public for the first time the text of the memorandum.

Everyone Knows This is a Push Button World But Not Like the Hope Feed Mill

By MARY ANITA LASETER

We are living in a "push button" world as we are all aware, but the extent of such a statement isn't fully realized until we see in operation such as is performed at the Hope Feed Mill.

This branch of the Cameron Feed Mills was built in Hope last year, and actual operation was begun in late August of 1959. There are 10 employees, including mill superintendent Charles F. Batson, but their small number is due to the vast amount of complicated machinery which does so much of the work.

On the ground floor is located a master control board on which 16 switches and numerous red and green lights are able to tell the observer what kind of feed is being processed and where it is in its various stages. Nothing escapes the "eye" of such a person.

If you've seen large sewing machines, the one used at the Hope Feed Mill might not be a surprise. However, it is safe to say that threading the needle is no problem here. The machine is used to close the bags of feed after it is ready for shipping.

Between the beginning and end of the feed process many things happen, of course. A great deal of work is done "underground," though that isn't to imply anything "underhanded" takes place. It's just that a very large basement houses a crumbler, a cooler, a hammer mill, and a mixer. In one hour 20,000 pounds of feed can be processed from mash into pellets.

The part of the mill with which the general public is most familiar is the 98 foot tower which can be seen by all. That is, they are familiar with the outside view of it. Inside are huge tanks where the feed is sent during its processing. There, 100,000 pounds are kept in storage at all times, too.

Both poultry feed and cattle feed are manufactured at the Hope mill. Nutrition experts devise the formulas for the various types. It has been learned that poultry waste such as feathers are high in protein, so they are incorporated into the feed for chickens. Most of this part of the formula can be obtained from near-by sources. But other contents are gotten from other sections of Arkansas, as well as from Texas, Louisiana, the northeast and even British Columbia, Canada.

All in all about four box cars of materials are used every day by the local feed mill which can manufacture 100,000 pounds of feed a day without any trouble. Most of the poultry feed is used in this vicinity, but a great deal of the cattle feed is sent to Texas and Louisiana. The Hope mill is one of only two Cameron Feed Mills in Arkansas making cattle feed.

Since feed dust in quantity can be explosive, extensive precautionary measures have been taken to provide the utmost in safety for the workers. "No Smoking" signs are everywhere in the mill area, and a sprinkler system is found throughout the mill with water set to spray at the slightest over-heating.

Feed at the local mill is manufactured in bulk and sacked for shipping. All of the bulk feed is shipped by truck. Since December most of the sacked feed has been sent by train.

As in the case of most manufacturers, the goal of the local feed mill is to make the best product available at the lowest price.

James Warren Ashby, a longtime resident of Hope, died Friday afternoon in the home of his son in Texarkana. He is survived by his son, Herby C. Ashby and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. this afternoon (Saturday) in the Herndon-Cornelius Chapel with burial in Macedonia Cemetery near Blevins.

Planned Demonstration

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—Communists and anti-American groups planned to use the two a chance to exchange views in private before settling down to formal talks Feb. 27. They drive for 2 1/2 hours Saturday through the mountains to Bandung, seat of the Asian-African coexistence conference of 1955.

Before Khrushchev left Jakarta the Soviet Union signed a protocol creating a 1959 trade agreement with Indonesia until the end of this year.

Discoverer X Is Destroyed Over Base

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Despite another failure, the Air Force will resume its Discoverer satellite series aimed at teaching man how to enter and return from space.

A 78-foot Discoverer X missile veered off course Friday after launching and headed for nearby seacoast cities. The Air Force destroyed the towering Thor-Agena missile at 20,000 feet, 56 seconds after launching.

A terrific blast rocked this missile base, then a big orange fireball swelled in the sky. A mushroom of black smoke billowed out the fiery sphere as the sky-raided missile fragments the size of automobiles.

Most of the fragments fell in the sea. Despite the donny show, there were no injuries or property damage. Cause of the malfunction was not immediately determined.

The missile was another failure in the Air Force's attempt to put a satellite into orbit, then recover its space capsule. Six Discoverers have achieved orbit so far but no capsule has been retrieved.

In Washington, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said an attempt to loft a 98-pound probe to intersect the orbit of the planet Venus will be made sometime during March. Another major space probe attempt—a shot to the vicinity of the moon—is planned later this summer probably in August.

Probers to Learn Who Gave Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators are out to identify Air Force officers who approved training manuals detailing dog washing and martini-mixing and describing the clergy as infiltrated by Communists.

"We're not out simply to make trouble for the people who wrote these ridiculous books," Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.) said. "They were the mechanics. We want to find out where the fault lies for the final approval. Obviously those responsible took the material for granted and didn't scrutinize it."

Price is chairman of a House Mixed Armed Services subcommittee which opened a general inquiry Thursday into armed services training publications as the latest controversial Air Force manual came to light.

Designed for officers' club secretaries, the manual goes into such matters as getting dates for bachelors and correcting bartenders' tendency to show they are good fellows by overpouring drinks.

Price said the subcommittee staff will make a preliminary check of armed services publications, eliminating from consideration the great majority which are purely technical guides.

Price's subcommittee originally was set up to study allegations of misuse of manpower.

"Producing these things was certainly improper use of manpower," he remarked. "The services aren't getting any benefit from these manuals, just trouble."

Mr. K Starts Tour About Indonesia

By JOHN GRIFFIN

BOGOT, Indonesia (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev set out today on his 1,400-mile tour of Indonesia with President Sukarno going along and leading the cheers for the Soviet Premier.

Leaving the sweltering heat of Jakarta, Khrushchev was lively and in good humor on reaching the snow-capped mountain city in the west Java hills.

Flag-waving children, who had given a holiday, and grinning school-clad peasants cheered the visiting Soviet leader along the 40-mile route from Jakarta to this city 650 feet above sea level. A crowd of 20,000 lined the streets in Bogor as the motorcade drove quickly past.

Khrushchev is spending the night at Sukarno's presidential summer palace, giving the two a chance to exchange views in private before settling down to formal talks Feb. 27. They drive for 2 1/2 hours Saturday through the mountains to Bandung, seat of the Asian-African coexistence conference of 1955.

Before Khrushchev left Jakarta the Soviet Union signed a protocol creating a 1959 trade agreement with Indonesia until the end of this year.

Demands U.S. Prevent Cuba Bombings

By RICHARD VALERIANI

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro demanded again Thursday night that the United States halt the bombing of Cuban soil by Florida-based planes. He reported two Americans were killed Thursday in an air attack on a Cuban sugar mill.

"The bearded Prime Minister told a nationwide television audience the chief cause of strained American-Cuban relations is the 'war' being conducted by raiding planes from the United States."

Speaking with unusual calm, he said documents taken from the wreckage proved the plane which tried to bomb the Espana Sugar Mill, 100 miles east of Havana, came from Florida.

"The United States authorities have asked us for proof," he declared. "We have the proof here. Now it's up to them to act."

He said the documents included a U.S. passport that identified the pilot as Robert Ellis Frost.

Cuban officials identified the other flier as Robert Kelly and said he was member of the U.S. Civil Air Patrol.

(In Miami, Robert Frost of Portland, Ore., was reported overdue on a "presumably local flight" in a light plane bearing the same registry number as the one which crashed in Cuba.)

CAP headquarters in Houston, Tex., said its records listed two Roberts Kellys as members, but the families of both men said they were in the United States and were not connected in any way with the Cuban incident.)

Following the crash, the U.S. Embassy quickly offered a team of technicians to assist in any investigation. Castro accepted the offer.

Castro said an investigation indicated the premature explosion of a fragmentation bomb intended for the mill blew up the plane. He said eyewitnesses reported the plane was driving on the mill when it blew apart, sending one of the fliers hurtling through the roof of a nearby house and shattering the body of the other beyond recognition.

The Prime Minister said a flight map recovered from the wreckage showed the plane had two Florida bases, one 30 miles southwest of a Strategic Air Command (SAC) base at Homestead, the other 79 miles northwest of the Key West Navy base.

U. S. Shaping New Plan for Disarming

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was reported today shaping a new disarmament program designed to shift the job of keeping world peace to international military forces.

As envisioned by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, national military forces and nuclear armament would be progressively brought under a system of international inspection and reduced. At the same time, some kind of international police force, probably set up through the United Nations, would be brought up to a strength sufficient to prevent aggressions by any nation.

Representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy have been meeting here for several weeks to develop proposals for presentation to the Soviet Union and four other Soviet bloc countries at a disarmament conference opening in Geneva March 15.

Whatever the final form of the U.S. program, it will be developed in consultation with those allies during the next three weeks.

The two-stage U.S. approach was outlined by Herter Thursday in a National Press Club speech.

Neither was particularly new, but he outlined these as his two goals:
1. To try to create as a matter of urgency "a more stable military environment." This could be accomplished, he said, by such things as measures to prevent surprise attacks through international aerial and ground inspection. Armed forces and armaments would be cut back.

2. To build up international peace-keeping machinery "to the point where aggression will be deterred by international rather than the main gate. Marin County deputies came to aid prison guards.

Only 17 marchers showed up. Within an hour there were only six left, perched on a muddy little hill near the barricades.

But then the band grew into a little crowd. By twos and threes the crowd grew to 60, then 70.

Four girls sat off to the side playing bridge in the glare of police car lights.

Suddenly the word flashed, via radio.

Gov. Brown had just granted the reprieve. Hardly anyone could believe it. They quickly went home through the chilly night.

A deputy sheriff called after them:
"See you in 90 days."

Brenda and Linda Gray Celebrate Birthdays

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Gray Jr. honored their twin daughters, Brenda and Linda with a party at the Legion Hut Monday afternoon to celebrate their third birthdays.

Favors of party hats and blowouts were given to the guests: David Avery, Scott Bright, Doug Smith, Bill Denman III, Paula and Doug Guthrie, Buddy and Judy Cunningham, Linda and Bill Oates and Jeanette Bolton.

Games were played after which refreshments were served from a table covered with a cartoon cloth. The cartoon motif was also carried out in the napkins, plates and cups. The twin white birthday cake was embellished with pink rose buds and topped with miniature open books inscribed Brenda and Linda.

Spring flowers in candle holders were placed on each side of the cake.

Mrs. Gray was assisted by John and Ginny Gray. Other guests were Mrs. C. R. Gray Sr. and Mrs. Larry Lancaster of Newport and Mrs. Carl Dalrymple.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Moore of Fulton were the Tuesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stripling.

Mrs. C. R. Gray Jr. and her guests, Mrs. C. R. Gray and Mrs. Larry Lancaster of Newport, motored to Vicksburg, Miss., on Tuesday and were accompanied back by Miss Artemis Gray Pollett, a student at All Saints School.

Mrs. O. G. Hirst, Mrs. Frank Gilbert and Mrs. C. D. McSwain of El Dorado spent Tuesday in national force."

With respect to his second goal Herter said that the United States plans to consult with other countries and the United Nations on specific measures which could be taken.

If Herter's goals are adopted by the other allies—and it is understood they have general approval—the Western position will differ in at least one radical respect from the Soviet position announced by Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Khrushchev told the United Nations last September that what he wants is total world disarmament. He suggested an approach by stages to the point where eventually all nations would abandon their arms.

But officials here have taken the position that even in a largely disarmed world international tensions and conflicts would arise and some kind of peacekeeping force would be necessary.

Non-inflation May Be Case of the Fear

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's just possible, government officials believe, that Wall Street's nervous tremors are caused by the fear of noninflation.

The economists say they can see nothing else in the business outlook for 1960 to explain the sinking spells of the stock market.

Production income and profits are at record highs and expected to keep going up at moderate speed. Gradually improving employment is foreseen.

These are substantially the same forecasts as were made on New Year's Day. Only one significant change has been made: There may be less inflation than we've gotten used to.

Practically nobody expected the economy to race. Remember the headlines over the New Year forecasts? They said: "Record '60 prosperity seen but no boom."

That's exactly what we're getting. And even if a recession should come along later, government economists say the first reliable signs won't be visible for at least a month or so.

They contend that President Eisenhower's forecast that the economy will keep expanding "through 1960 and beyond" is still as good as anybody's guess.

So why did sentiment in the money markets shift in January? Why the recent recurrent stock-selling waves followed by good rallies that don't quite make up the losses?

For the answer, a good many people here point to the White House. The psychological change, they say, dates from Eisenhower's State of the Union Message.
Earlier that week the stock market edged—with a hardly inflationary settlement. The stock market zipped to a record high. Then Eisenhower announced the government would run a surplus of more than four billion dollars next year. The market has looked less robust ever since.
The big surplus—to the extent it comes true—means the great weight of federal fiscal operations will be deflationary. The government will be taking in more money—and soaking up more buying power—than it spends.
The treasury will be engaged in paying off debt instead of deficit financing. It will not be competing heavily with private business for investment funds. Already credit has eased a little and interest rates have fallen a little.
Some of the economists who had foreseen a 1960 price rise of 1½ to 2 per cent now expect only about 1 per cent. Wholesale prices have been edging down.
Farm prices are expected to continue to decline.
This is not an outlook that spurs people to buy stocks as a hedge against depreciation of their dollars. Nor is it a business climate in which you can count on making a fast speculative buck.
And many of the shares that were bought in expectation of ever-advancing inflation are likely to be overpriced. Today's market seems to be squeezing the inflation out.

Steals From Church
LYNN, Mass. (AP) — An 83-year-old man who fished coins out of church poor boxes with rubber cement and a string has been sentenced to six months in jail. Albert Belmonte of Boston was convicted Thursday of stealing from a poor box at St. Jean's church. Police said he scoured old age assistance, but stole from poor boxes for half a century.

Youth Is Rescued
NEW YORK (AP) — A 6-year-old boy fell four floors to safety in a firemen's net Thursday as flames engulfed his Brooklyn apartment home. The boy, Leon Hewitt Jr., alone in the apartment, opened a window and climbed out on the ledge. He hung there 15 minutes until firemen arrived and spread their net.

EYEBROW-RAISING—Teen-age girls in western states use cosmetic pencil and imagination to come up with weird eyebrow variations. Top to bottom are Indian smoke signal, lightning bolt, question mark and mark of Zorro.

Bobcats Lose to Smackover as Jr's Win

By TEDDY JONES, JR.

The Smackover Buckaroos took the measure of the Hope Bobcats 46 to 21 in a 4A Conference game at Smackover last night.

The Hope Junior High School Bobcats kept their perfect record intact in Conference play by soundly trouncing the Junior Buckaroos 46 to 21 in the curtain raiser.

Both the Bobcats and the Juniors continue their Conference schedule by playing the strong Magnolia Panthers at Jones Field House tonight with the first game starting at 7 p. m.

Sam Barker, Black and Sellers placed the Buckaroos to a big first half in piling up a commanding 44 to 27 lead at halftime.

The Bucks were hot from the start and led 26 to 12 at the end of the first quarter.

Larry Walton played his best game of the year for the Bobcats in rebounding and scoring and led Hope scorers with 23 points, his season's high. Even this performance was only second best to Barker, in the scoring point as the flashy Smackover shooter collected 27 points for the games high scorer. Black poured in 17 and Sellers 11 to contribute to the Smackover total.

With the exception of Walton, other Bobcat scorers were held to single-figure totals with Vaughn hitting for 7, Smiley 6, Churchill and Thurman 4 each and Walters 2.

David Porterfield turned in the outstanding game for the Junior Bobcats hitting for 16 points and playing an excellent defensive and rebounding game. Purdie and Murphy scored 10 each with Dan Jones racking up 6 and McLarty 2 to complete the scoring for the Hope Juniors.

Womack with 10 and Cogburn 8 led for Smackover.

The Juniors jumped to a fast lead and were ahead 12 to 3 at the end of the first quarter and 31 to 17 at the end of the half. At the three quarter mark the Bobcats held a 43 to 22 advantage.

A large crowd is expected for tonight's games with Magnolia since the Panthers provided the Hope teams with some of their stiffest competition in the series opener played at Magnolia.

Admits Girl's Death Called a Suicide

BOSTON (AP)—A star witness for the prosecution conceded today at the murder trial of Willem van Rie, Dutch radio operator, that the witness had said: "We know it is a suicide."

Capt. Joseph B. Fallon, head of the Boston police homicide squad, conceded under cross-examination the made such a remark before interviewing Van Rie and obtaining a statement from him.

New Hats for Some Prisoners

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Convicts at the Oklahoma State Prison at McAlester will work under the hot summer sun in style.

They'll be wearing expensive straw hats—thanks to the Highway Patrol.

The patrol ordered 200 straws for their patrolmen for use last summer. Only about one in five would fit and they were packed away.

A new order was placed for western-style felt hats for winter use. Commissioner Ray Page says they'll become part of the official uniform next week. For 25 years Oklahoma patrolmen have worn caps.

U. S. Counts On Women In Olympics

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Uncle Sam counts on his talented nieces to get him started today in the bagging of Winter Olympics gold medals.

It was up to a trio of blonde beauties, downhill skiers Penny Pitou and Betsy Snite, and figure skating queen Carol Heiss to get the United States rolling.

The first two championships went to Sixteen Jernberg, Sweden's "king of the skis," in the 30-kilometer (18.6 miles) ski race, and the spectacular Canadian apries figure skating duo of Bob Paul and Barbara Wagner. The Yanks had to settle for a third-place bronze medal in the pairs, earned by the husband-wife team of Roland and Nancy Ladington of Roxbury, Mass.

At the end of the first day, Sweden, with a one-two finish in the cross-country race, led in the unofficial team scoring with 17 points. Canada was second with 13, Soviet Union third with 8, followed by Germany 7, the U.S.A. and Finland 1.

By Sunday Saturday the Soviets were a cinch to overhaul Sweden and then really roll it up on Sunday. The Sunday program includes Soviet specialties—the biathlon, a cross-country and rifle shooting event and the women's 1,500-meter speed skating.

Miss Pitou, of Gilford, N.H., and Miss Snite, of Norwich, Vt., a couple of seasoned internationalists at 21, were the choices over a group of crack Europeans in the women's downhill ski race on K222 Mountain, in one of the features of the "Ladies Day" program.

In two other finals for the girls, the Soviets were expected to overwhelm the opposition in the 10-kilometer (6.2 miles) cross-country ski race and the 500-meter speed skating.

Miss Heiss, the four-times world champion, figured to get a strong head start in the first day's compulsory competition of the figure skating championship. The compulsory figures will be finished Sunday. The free skating, in which Carol dazzles, winds up the event on Monday.

In the hockey openers, the United States came from behind to beat Czechoslovakia, 7-5; Canada downed Sweden 5-2 and the Soviet Union's defending champions routed Germany, 8-0.

Broadway musical composer Cole Porter was born in Peru, Ind., in 1892.

and tossing her overboard Sept. 18 as the vessel left Boston.

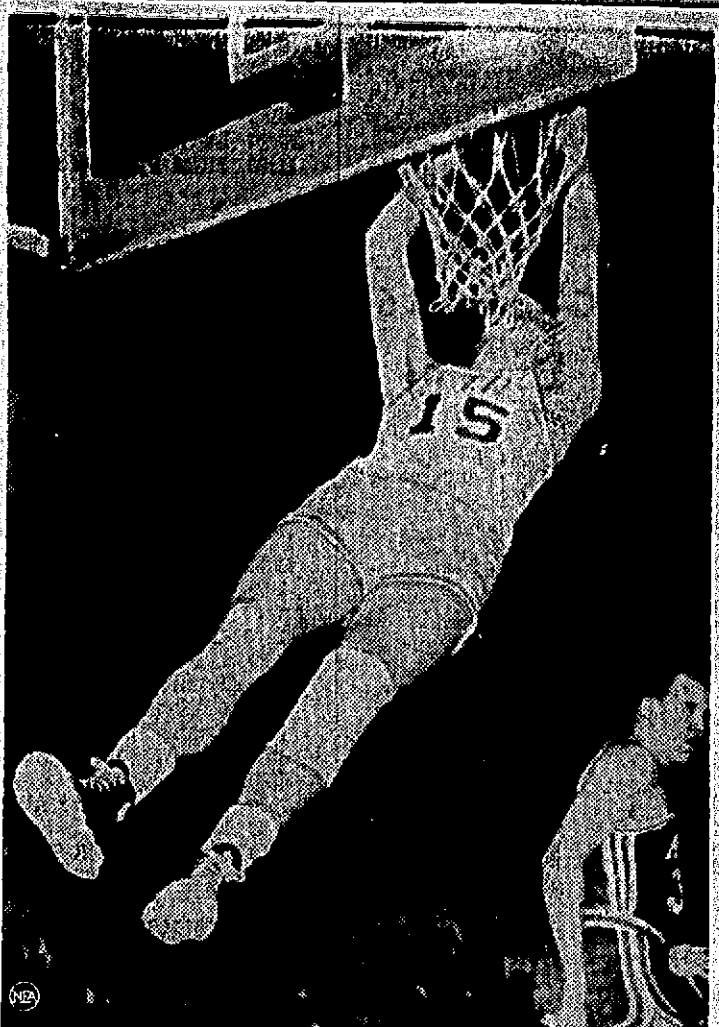

Fallon also conceded that Var Rie's statement was obtained after he had been questioned virtually the entire night of Sept. 29-30 at a Brooklyn police station.

A statement Fallon said he took from Van Rie last Sept. 30 in a Brooklyn police station was put on record over defense objections today.

Fallon read the part of Van Rie's purported statement concerning his visit to Lynn's cabin the night of Sept. 18. He quoted the defendant as saying he had been there only about a minute.

The state contends it was about that time that the girl was thrown overboard to her death.

The gist of the statement follows: "Capt. Fallon, I completely realize that with the evidence you have they could break me in this case. Those kids from St. Louis (passengers in nearby cabins) know I was in the cabin."

THE LADY AND THE GIANT

By Clarence Budington Kelland

Illustration of a woman in a dress.

By Clarence Budington Kelland CHAPTER XXXVI

Lossie and I decided to go down to the basin to say good-by to Lizzie Ann and to Zach and his woman.

We were going to a musicale, which was a social occasion that required dressing in our best.

She smiled in a sardonic way and said, "How dignified and splendid you look tonight, Orrin! Almost too grown up. I do hope you don't split your coat."

It angered me that she should treat me as if were some hobbled, deformed half her age.

"Anyhow, I'm not a scrawny little brat that wouldn't make a mouthful for a crow," I said snappishly.

I had not seen much of Lossie since that day in Madam Janeway's parlor when I had fought with Oscar and when Lossie, being upset by the fighting, had asked me to kiss her. I don't know that she had avoided me, but she did seem to be busy and to have little time for me. And when she did see me she was always aloof and holly-holly, as if we were comparative strangers instead of play-fellows from babyhood.

I handed her into the buggy which awaited us in the driveway. I tucked the lap robe about her, and she said, "Scrawny," under her breath.

"Well," I told her, "you can't help it. Legs like a couple of broomsticks! Chasing after me like a grasshopper!"

"That," she said furiously, "was years ago! Girls grow up and—and their legs change!"

"Yours," I said, "would have to change a lot."

After that there was a chill in the air until I had driven the buggy as near to the Lizzie Ann as was possible.

We went about the Lizzie Ann and I let out a holler to tell Zach and his woman that we were there. The door opened, and we were greeted out from the cabin and an agreeable odor of coffee and baking.

"Come in and welcome!" he bellowed, and reach up his great hands he swung Lossie down the steps and into the cabin.

Zach goggled at her with eyes as big as saucers, and said, "Maw, fur goodness' sake, look! Our little gal's grown up!"

"I took note fur some time," Maw said dryly. "Soon she'll be gittin' her man, Zach, and we'll be losin' our little gal."

"You'll never lose me, Maw," Lossie said gently.

And then Maw Wheelright turned her bright eyes upon me and said sourly, "Heavens knows you've grown up, Orrin. Applegate. But big as you be, ye ain't grown up as much as her. I supposed ye hadn't had sense to make up your mind yet or to see what's what."

"Make up my mind about what Maw Wheelright?"

"Some," Maw said to Lossie. "Is dumber'n what others be. This one, he takes the prize."

"He is stupid," Lossie said, and nodded for emphasis. "But I'd rather he came to scratch by himself."

Zach roared with Homeric laughter. "Probably," he said, "the boy's been thataway for a long time, but he ain't woke up to it. Some folks need nudgin'."

"He's so thick-skinned," Lossie said, "that he doesn't notice nudges."

"Set down," Maw commanded me. I did so, and she stood in front of me bristling like an angry bantam hen. "Look ye her, Orrin Applegate. Ye been grumblin' around with our Lizzie Ann since ye both was babies."

"Yes'm," I said. "We're next-door neighbors."

"The time's full ripe," she went on inexorably, "when her folks must ax what is your intentions?"

"My intentions!" I exclaimed. "Let's start easy and elementary." Maw said, "Look at her standin' there."

I did so. There was no doubt that Lossie was as lovely as a girl could be. I did not look into her eyes, but a pleasant sort of excitement took possession of me.

"Think back," Maw said, peremptorily. "Call to mind the day when ye feared harm had come to her."

"I call it to mind very clearly," I said.

"To be sure," Maw went on. "And that day ye fought 'n killed a dangerous bad man. Why did ye do so, Orrin?"

"Because I hated him."

"So-o-o-o!" Maw exclaimed. "And why did ye hate him, boy?"

"Because I—" I said, and stopped. "Because," I went on in a second, "he dared to threaten and frighten her." And because I'd tear apart any man that dared so much as lay a finger on her to harm her." I stopped again, and looked at Maw Wheelright, and then across at Lossie, and I took a stride toward my girl, and I said in a big voice, "You don't need to ask me why I'd do that. You don't need to prompt me any more. She's the most precious thing in the world to me, and I wouldn't want to stay alive if she left me in the world alone."

I ventured to look at Lossie, and her eyes were wet, but behind the tears they were lovely and yearning, and her lips were parted, and there was an expression there that was not a smile but was more splendid than a smile. And slowly she lifted her hands toward me until her arms were outstretched.

I heard Zach Wheelright say to his woman, "Woman, I calculate we best go bide on deck."

So those two fine friends turned their backs on us and left us alone in their warm, cozy cabin.

Then I said to her, "Playmate, what a great, blind old I've been!"

And she nodded her head in agreement and came a step nearer. "But," she said softly, "the dandiest great cat that ever was."

Would Revise School Transportation Pay

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Rep. J. H. Cotrell Jr., of Pulaski County to day plugged for a new method of determining how much money a school district should get for hauling its pupils to and from school by bus.

Cotrell, a member of the Little Rock School Board, went to bat specifically for the rural Pulaski County District.

Cotrell's board has no jurisdiction over the rural schools.

The representative told the Arkansas Legislative Council that, under the formula set up by the State Education Department, the Pulaski district gets about $15 per pupil per year—lowest in the state—in transportation aid.

He said the average was $26 per pupil and that state aid ranged to as high as $40 per pupil.

NEW BOATING GADGET WARMS OF OBSTACLES

By WM. TAYLOR MCKEOWN

Editor, Popular Boating

Distributed by

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CHICAGO, Ill. (NEA)—A dashboard instrument that can tell the pleasure boatman how deep the water is beneath him plus how far ahead the shore is—this is one of the most interesting new announcements from the boat shows.

Called a Pilot Depth-Distance Indicator, the gadget has remarkable properties. Side by side on its face are scales which read up to 140 feet. As the boatman heads home in the fog or dark, he will note the water getting more shallow as he nears shore. Then, when a navigation marker should appear ahead, he can check the other side of the dial and simultaneously read how far away it (or any other obstacle) is.

Considerable sensitivity is claimed for the instrument by Eira Dynamics, which makes it in Cedar Grove, New Jersey. If a large school of fish swims below the boat, intermediate flickers appear on the depth dial showing how far to lower a fishing line. The difference between a grassy bottom and one of hard rock will be indicated in the width of the reading.

But though the depth finders for the small boat have been available before, the proximity reading of the instrument is an entirely new feature. Projecting an inquiring "beam" just under the surface of the water, it indicates boats and buoys ahead and the shore as well, once the boat has approached within 140 feet. Even floating logs and large pieces of debris are reported to show up on the dial as dim warning marks in time to allow the skipper to steer out of the way.

This is not radar, with its electronic picture of everything around the boat, but the gadget costs under $200, a fraction of the price of the smallest radar set. The indicator weighs only three pounds, can use self-contained batteries to power its tiny transistors, and might even be installed on a rowboat.

A number of other makes of new depth finders have been announced, including a portable model which can be assembled at home from a kit. Even electric marine refrigerators which require less voltage to make ice cubes offshore are now available. And for the water skier who really wants to have everything, an intercom is now produced which mounts a small waterproof microphone and speaker on the tow rope handle. Braided into the line is a wire leading to the towing boat, and the skier can fall for turns and more or less speed instead of having to signal the tow boat driver. When the skier takes a spill, the driver will undoubtedly be alerted by a soft sad gurgle.

Clarksville to Get New U. S. Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Public Works Subcommittee has approved proposed new federal buildings for Clarksville and Tupelo, Miss.

Approval is under a procedure providing that such public buildings will be authorized if approved by the full House and Senate Public Works Committees. The next step is to obtain appropriations.

The estimated cost of a new court house and post office building at Clarksville is $1,812,000 and for a similar structure at Tupelo $1,290,000.

Rep. Frank Smith (D-Miss), a member of the group, said he expects approval by the full House committee next week and that the Senate committee also will approve the authorization. He added that he has hopes of at least getting funds this year for the Clarksville building.

HAVE

In all the world no monument is more famous than Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty. Standing on an isle in New York harbor, it is the symbol of a nation that enjoys the ultimate in political and religious freedom. It is our Americanism landmark.

Since 1886, the towering statue has been the first welcoming beacon for countless thousands coming to these shores to find a better life... The life of Liberty, of Freedom, the American way. The inscription on its base carries a potent message of promise as significant as the monument itself:

"Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free.

The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.

Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost, to me:

I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

Then, if we have in the past, may we never again take Liberty for granted... it wears a price tag.
